Nr. Hoar replied that under the general rule of the Senate the functions of that committee expired with this Concress, and all its papers are returned to the Senate and placed on file. If the credentials of Mr. Turpic had been retained by the committee without acthing (under the operation of that general rule) would have then happened which had happened this morning, that is, the papers would have gone on the files of the Senate and the committee would have been discharged from their further consideration. The only alterunive to that course would have been an assumption by the committee or by the Senate at the present session to deal with the credentials of the gentle-man plaining to be senator-elect before ne had arrived for the beginning term and before he had presented off. The Senate was a continuing and it was therefore possible that the within its power to deterwithin its por

THE SOLID SOUTH.

THE UNION LEAGUE DISCUSSES HOW TO BREAK IT.

The National Council in Session-Pream ble and Resolutions Adopted and Working Committee Appointed.

Washington, March 1 .- The Na ional Council of the National Union League met here to-day and elected the following officers: President, General Charles H. Grosvenor, of Ohio. Vice Fresidents: William E. Chandler, o New Hampshire; C. A. Boutelle, o Waine; James S. Negley, of Pennsylvania; Nathan Goff, of West Virginia

[By telegraph to the Dispatch.]

J. E. O'Hara, of North Carolina; L. C. Houck, of Tennessee; B. K. Bruce, of Mississippi; Thomas R. Rich, of Maryland; Lewis McKenzie, of Vir-ginia; J. S. Robertson, of Ohio. Corsponding Secretary, John E. Bryaut, Georgia; Treasurer, A. M. Clapp, the District of Columbia.

A long preamble and resolutions were dopted. The preamble says: The Democratic party has secured control of the House of Representatives and he presidency by fraud and violence and seeks control of the Senate by simi lar means. By fraud and violence th South was made solidly Democratic and is held solid. How to se-cure a government of the peoele and by the people, giving to each qualified voter the privilege of asting just one ballot at each election and having the result of the election onestly announced is the great que on in American politics. To se uch a government it is necessary that he Republican party should contro oth houses of Congress and the presi ency. To accomplish that object is important, if not necessary, to nercase the Republican strength in he southern States. How to strength n the Republican party at the South

s, therefore, a question of the first mportance. In consideration of this prestion it is important to have in mind the fact that no Republican has been returned as a member of the Fif icth Congress from a district in which he Republican voters are mainly color d, except in Virginia, and in that Stat white Republican strength wa sufficient to secure something like a fair election. In a word, the general state nent may be made that the Democrat of the South have by fraud and violence suppressed the colored vote when neces sary to give them power, and that the only districts held by the Republican are those in which the white Republi can strength is sufficient to secure some thing like a fair election. It follows therefore, that the only reasonable hope that the Republicans have of breaking he solid South in the immediate future is in sections where we now have considerable white Repub ican strength and where there ort we may add to that strength from the white voters. Stretching from Pennsylvania and Ohio nearly to the fulf of Mexico is a mountainous see tion whose inhabitants were for the est part non-slaveholders. were farmers, not plant During the war a majority the people were loyal to Union. This section embraces West Virginia and portions of Mary and, Kentucky, Virginia, North Caro In this section the Republican part now has considerable strength. Indeed all Republicans elected to the Fiftietl Congress, except the members from Missouri, are from some portion of thi reasonable hope that with proper ef

[It appropriates $2,300,-600 for the remainder of the current fort the solid South may be broken The National Union League is pecu fiscal year, and $4,600,000 for the next liarly fitted to lead in the necessary preparatory work : therefore

Resolved, That the League will labor solid South on the line above indicated. Resolved, Tl at the president appoir a committee of fifteen, of which he shall be chairman, who shall have ful athority to carry into effect the policy of the League. Under this resolution the presiden appointed the following gentlemen as such committee: C. H. Grosvenor (ex-oplicio), of Ohio; W. E. Chandler, of New Hampshire; James S. INDIANAPOLIS, March 1.—The only new feature in the legislative situation was the action taken to-day by Roberts a Democratic member of the House, in offering a resolution declaring Robert son to be legally elected Lieutenant Governor, in which he was supported by Fertram, another Democratic mem ber. But two more days remain in which bills can be passed during this session, and the prospects of accomplishing any further legislation are not at all encouraging. In fact, there is no probability of this. Governor Gray insists that he will not call an extra session under existing condichanged by the end of this week. Both Republicans and Democrats claim tha are willing to go before the people with the records they have made.

THENTON, N. J., March 1.—The ballot for senator was taken in joint legis-lative session to-day, and the result occasioned some surprise. Thirty-five Democrats stood firmly by Abbett, as on previous ballots; but the Republicans, in evident pursuance of caucu action, divided up among Sewell, Phelps, Bedle, and Kays. The last two are Democrats, and they were voted for with the purpose of trying to break the Abbett column. The ballot stood: Abbett, 35; Sewell, 24; Bedle (Demo crat), 8; Erastus Potter (Labor), 2; Ludlow (Democrat), 1; Kays (Demo-crat), 7; Phelps (Republican), 3; Colby (Republican), 1. All the Republicans voted.

NEW YORK, BALTIMORE, AND RICH MOND STOCK EXCHANGES.

Grain, Provisions, Cotton, Tobacco, Turpentine, Rosin, Tar, and Peanut Markets.

(By telegraph to the Dispatch.)

New York, March 1.—The same depressing influences which affected the stock market yesterday were again potent in speculation to-day, and the market was dull and heavy throughout the greater part of the day, but was subject to periods of activity and decided weakness. The insually active stocks of known character were generally well held, while the important lesses were in such securities as Richmond and West Point and cottomosed-eil certificates and others of like reputation. There was very likele support given the market, while the bears and room-traders controlled the greater part of the business done. The cotton-oil trusts pursued the same course as on yesterday, and while the fluctuations were not so large their not loss for the day was equally heavy. A decided weakness was next developed in Richmond and West Point and New England, and rooh declined materially in a very short inne. The movement in noither was satisfactorily explained, but as usual several rumors of a contradictory nature were circuited. In regard to Richmond and West Point, one story asserted that the present management was to be deposed, and another that the control of the Georgia Central was run beyond the power of the company. The opening was rather heavy, a majority of the stocks being slightly under last evening's final quotations. There were a few slight advances in the early dealings, but the entire market soon yielded lerves Central showing decided weakness. There was a slight raily toward noon, but after that time the movement in Richmond and west Point and New England occurred, and a marked increase in the amount of business was noticed. The most pronounced raily of the day occurred towards 2 P. M., but towards the close the market again become heavy and dull, the last prices generally being but a little better than the lowest reached, and with the entire active list lower. The sales for the day were 75,000 shares. arch, re, closed at 19 gc.

REVIEW OF THE CHICAGO MARKET.

CHICAGO, March 1.—There was a repetition of the scenes of yesterday's excitement in the pork pit at the opening this morning, but during the remainder of the day trading was limited. The clique demonstrated that it had complete control of the market, and whenever the shorts attempted to cover prices advanced in an alarmingly quick manner. May pork opened at all sorts of prices, $17 being bld and $18 asked in different parts of the pit. There were transactions at $17.90, $17.50, $19.55, and $17.80 within a very few minutes. Other hos products were lers unsettled. Not so many orders to sell were on the floor as expected. It did not take long to convince traders that the seesion was going to be in marked contrast to the one of yesterday, but nevertheless the big end of the crowd hung around the pork pit. From $18.20, at which price there was a sale soon after the opening, the advance to $19

From $18.30, at which price there was a sale soon after the opening, the advance to $19 was quite steady, but, aithough the fluctuation was $1.50 per barrel, the excitement inhidental thereto was very slight as compared with yesterday. There was not much pork for sale, and such "shorts" as were out were not disposed to pay the present inflated prices. This restricted trading somewhat, and helped the bear market down from $19 to $18.50. Toward 1 o'clock May picked up to $18.50. Whith few sales at $18.50. Some on withdrew, however, and prices restricted to $18.57%. On the afternoon Board May opened at $18.50, with few sales at $18.50. fell off to $18.50, and closed at that point for the day. A number of shorts made private settlements and withdrow from the market. Operators in general were distrustful and declined to execute orders. The export clearings of wheat from the seaboard aggregated $30,000 bashels, but the shipping inquiry was reported light until late in the afternoon, when renewed export demand was reported. The receipts at eleven points were $1,000 bushels.
